By IBI Magazine

Trinity Yachts has launched a new 49.1m (161ft) aluminium tri-deck motoryacht following a brief christening ceremony by its Canadian owner.

Destination FOXHARB'R Too (pictured), which was designed and built by Trinity at its Gulfport, Mississippi yard, has an 8.6m (28ft) beam and an aluminium semi-displacement hull and aluminium superstructure. It is equipped with two Caterpillar 3512B engines, each producing 2250hp, for a top speed of around 20kt.

With a cruising range of 3000Nm at 10kt, Destination FOXHARB'R Too can accommodate an owner's party of 12 in six staterooms and a crew of 12 in six cabins. It also has an advanced stabilizing system featuring Quantum 2x active fin with digital controls with Zero Speed and a Quantum 150hp bow thruster. The yacht is due to be delivered in the spring of 2008.
