

BMT Nigel Gee

James Roy and the consultants at BMT Nigel Gee are the team that other designers and shipyards turn to for technical help and expertise. They are working with Van Peteghem Lauriot Prévost on Gemini for Derecktor Shipyards, and, for the same yard, on the detailed design of an 85 metre design from Tim Heywood. They provide engineering consultancy for aspects of Palmer Johnson's existing range, and Trinity Yachts is using the designers to supply the full naval architecture, classification level and detailed production design of a 74 metre new build (pictured). Other projects on the drawing board include a large SWATH yacht, details of which are highly confidential, while ShadowCAT – the conceptual design originally created with Bjorn Johansson – is under further development and will soon be heading out to bid.
